

CRAGHOPPERS

Back in 1965 when Craghoppers hit upon the idea of turning a passion for travel into a bona fide business, the team felt like they were embarking on an exciting and at times perilous trip into the unknown. Looking back, their perseverance paid off and Craghoppers is now recognised as a global outdoor and adventure travel specialist.

The world may have moved on over the last 56 years but our mission today is the same as it was all those decades ago - to create comfortable and practical clothing ranges to help our customers stay on the trail as long as possible. And every year, we get that little bit better. By introducing new designs, using the latest technologies, keeping sustainability at the heart of everything we do and bringing that special spirit of innovation, our products are more comfortable, lighter, more waterproof, insulating and sun-protective than ever before.

EXPERT

Taking these technologies and our sustainability ethos, we have applied them to our new Craghoppers Expert range to ensure that we offer the very best performance for all day wear at the workplace - wherever that may be.

A collection of clothing and accessories for professionals working in the outdoors.
